

Black history on display

Michael Bosby, a co-founder of the Black Youth Heritage Expo, leads a group of Burney-Harris-Lyons Middle School students through some of the exhibits in this year's event, which continues through Thursday at the East Athens Community Center on McKinley Drive and is free and open to the public.

Black history on display

Figurines and photographs are part of an exhibit showcasing jazz music at the Black Youth History Exhibit.